

FAQ: MISSION NETWORK NEWS & ONE WAY MINISTRIES

May 13, 2016

On June 1, 2016, One Way Ministries will acquire and assume ownership and operations of Mission Network News. The transfer of MNN from Cornerstone University to One Way Ministries has been in the works since early Spring 2016.

WHY IS CORNERSTONE UNIVERSITY PARTING WITH MISSION NETWORK NEWS?

Cornerstone University has owned and operated Mission Network News for just over 20 years. In assessing MNN's future Cornerstone realized it had taken the ministry as far as it could. After months of vetting options and possible ministry partners resourced well enough to grow MNN, One Way Ministries was the clear choice to fulfill Cornerstone's dreams and One Way Ministries' aspirations to engage and equip more people to serve Jesus Christ and His directive to share the Gospel around the world.

WHO IS ONE WAY MINISTRIES?

One Way Ministries, based in Naperville IL, is an organization called to reach people through a variety of Christ-centered ministries and partnerships from around the world and see multitudes come to know and love Jesus Christ. One Way does so by fueling global prayer movements through Prayercast.com, by producing music and hosting worship events, and by equipping volunteers and interns from across the country to share the Gospel. More information can be found at the ministry's website www.owm.org.

WILL THERE BE ANY CHANGE OF SERVICE OR COST OF SERVICE FROM MISSION NETWORK NEWS?

With exception to a change replacing Cornerstone University's name with that of One Way Ministries in both the broadcasts and online platforms, there are no immediate changes planned. Mission Network News will still provide its 4½, 2 and 1 minute news programs (hosted by MNN's current host, Ruth Kramer), and continue to provide these same stories and more on MNN's website. Media partners will see no immediate change in the cost of services provided by MNN.

WHAT ARE ONE WAY MINISTRIES' LONG TERM PLANS FOR MISSION NETWORK NEWS?

Merging the excellence and global influence of MNN's broadcast and online content with its existing network of people and resources, One Way Ministries will capitalize on the strength of both ministries' audio and video platforms to enhance and advance its overall ability in connecting people to engage and become active participants in what God is doing around the world.
